Our Commitment...

Our commitment to you is to design, engineer and build a car with quality. To give you honest value at an honest price. That is our goal.

It's a no-nonsense commitment that can make a lot of sense when you buy your next car.

We try to give our buyers a car that gets them where they want to go in all types of weather and in all kinds of traffic.

People expect value when they invest in a new car—and that's what we expect to deliver.

Sport... in the economy-sized package.

We've been telling you Duster is the small-enough-but-big-enough car. And that still holds true. And that's the way people apparently want it. You've made Duster our outstanding success car two years running. And we're not about to change a winning formula—except to make it better.

For example, we've got a new thin-back front seat that helps increase rear leg and knee room. We also offer you a choice of four interiors. And every interior comes with a two-quart capacity, reusable litter bag attached to the glove box.

Reusable Litter Bag

Valiant... survival of the fittest.

Ten years ago the Big Three introduced three compacts. Corvair. Falcon. Valiant. Of them, only Valiant survives in its original concept.

Torsion-bar suspension, unibody construction and our dip-and-spray process are some of the reasons why. And now for '72, a system of putting microscopic cracks into such items as chrome door handles, lamps and bumpers will help keep them looking shiny for a long time. We've also continued to make improvements in our Cleaner Air System to help reduce exhaust emissions.

Cleaner Air System

These features are intended to let you enjoy your Plymouth for a long, long time. You can credit them in large part for putting Plymouth Valiant, including Duster, among the leaders of its class in resale value.

The same traditional Valiant value, with 2-door hardtop styling, can be found in Scamp... another Chrysler styling and engineering winner.

Barracuda... classy looks... sporty appeal.

We're getting it together with two restyled Barracuda models for '72.

Number one is Barracuda. It has such things as hidden wipers, a low-slung Unibody and torsion-bar suspension—standard. And a choice of either a 225 Six or a 318 V-8. With our many options, it's easy to give it a personality all its own.

Number two is 'Cuda. A fine performance machine. 'Cuda gives you a great way to go: the 340 CID V-8. An optional hood release helps protect your engine goodies.

Inside Hood Release

You also get a standard heavy-duty performance-type handling package including special shocks, rear springs, front torsion bars, front and rear anti-sway bars, bias-belted F70 tires, plus many other features.

More sport in either Barracuda or Duster can be yours with an optional sun roof. Convenient. Practical. Electrically powered for Barracuda; manually operated for Duster.

Sun Roof

The kind of car America wants.

We feel many Americans have undergone a change in their attitude toward cars. Some of them look upon cars as a convenient device to get them from place to place economically. And that's about it. And that's where the Valiant comes in. The Duster will do the same thing only with more style. But for those who want a full measure of sport and fun—along with the pleasure of owning something special—there are Scamp and Barracuda.

The choice is yours. Any way you want it. Plymouth comes through.

Duster

Duster is the big buy in economy cars. Big in front- and rear-seat hip room. Big in that it'll hold a family of five rather than four as many other small cars do. And with a big standard engine. A 198 Six. With the Duster 340, the 340 cu. in. V-8 engine, plus our new Electronic Ignition System, is standard. This new engineering breakthrough practically eliminates ignition tune-ups when low-lead fuel is used.

Valiant 4-Door Sedan

Valiant & Scamp

Our Scamp 2-door hardtop is a zippy masterpiece of Chrysler engineering and styling. Like the 4-door sedan, it features unibody construction and torsion-bar suspension.

Our four-door Valiant has been a pacesetter in the economy field for over ten years now. And it still has the roomy interior, rugged construction, and proven economy it's known for.

Options for both include an air conditioner for cool comfort and an AM or AM/FM radio for cool sounds.
